

CARPATHIAN BATTLE FAR FROM DECISION; NEITHER SIDE GAINS

TEUTONIC ALLIES MAKE DESPERATE EFFORTS TO ADVANCE AGAINST INVADERS IN GALICIA.

FIGHT AT DUKLA PASS

Port Advance of Russians at This Point Would Threaten Austrian Communications—Heavy Losses Reported.

A battle which the Russian war office describes as without precedent in history has occurred in Galicia in the course of the campaign for mastery of the mountain region which screens northern Hungary from Russia. In a single day the German troops charged 22 times on a Russian position. They made their charges up a hill in the face of artillery fire. Twice they gained possession of the heights, but according to the Russian statement they were finally driven out with bayonettes.

In the recent attack of the Germans on the Warsaw front, the Russian statement says their losses amounted to tens of thousands.

Another Russian victory is said to have been gained in Poland, where the German attacked the Russian forces. The Petrograd war office says that the Germans were driven back and that one of their battalions was almost annihilated.

Statements of today from Berlin and Paris that there was no important fighting yesterday in France.

The battle of the Carpathians which is to decide whether the Russians will be able to force a winter over the mountains and invade Hungary will be driven back to the northward apparently is as far from a decision as at any time since the Austrians with their German reinforcements launched the attacks.

Although the Russian forces along the Warsaw front have undertaken an attack, they apparently have been no more successful than were the Germans in their last attack. So far as has been reported there is no important shifting of positions.

In Northern Poland another important battle is under way with the issue still undecided.

The Russian duma adopted a resolution expressing the purpose of carrying on the war until the peace of Europe was assured on terms satisfactory to Russia.

It is reported from Geneva that a Zeppelin has been wrecked in a storm during a flight over the North Sea.

Another instance of the use of American flag by a British steamer was noted today by passengers by the Cunarder Orford which arrived at New York from Liverpool. The Orford is said to have flown the American flag for nearly 24 hours while crossing the Irish sea.

London, Feb. 10.—The eastern battle front completely shows the center of interest in the military operations. The Teutonic allies evidently making desperate efforts to advance, especially in the region of Galicia to the south of Przemyśl and Lemberg, where attempts have been made to gain positions by sheer weight of numbers.

A general offensive movement of the Austro-German forces along the Carpathian mountains has been successful at the eastern end of the range where the Russians are retreating into Bukovina. But London military experts are of the opinion that the Austrians must force ahead along way in this direction before they can hope to effect the general Russian position.

Dukla Pass Crucial Point.

The point is Dukla pass where a short advance by the Russians would compel the Austrians to look anxiously to their communications. At present the battle in the region of Dukla has all the aspects of a draw. The mountain fighting, according to Russian reports, took place in the Carpathian mountains. Here the Germans attempted to cross Gukholi pass. The Teutons attacked in formation several ranks deep and gained several positions occupied by the Russians, only to be forced back by the desperate counter attacks.

A German report states that heavy military actions are in progress in the Carpathians and an advance is being made on Bukovina near the important town of Wama, has been occupied by the Austro-German force.

Wage Battle in Snow.

Berlin, Feb. 10.—The Hague and London, Feb. 10.—The winter campaign under which battles are being waged in the Carpathians is contained in a dispatch to the Lokai Anzeiger from its correspondent in the mountains, who says:

"Deep snow lies in the Carpathians and troops movements are confined to the valley paths. These marches are slow, and deployment for battle is extremely difficult. The Russians are presently with considerable forces against Dukla pass and are continually bringing up new troops there.

"On the rest of the front the Russians are in excellently fortified positions which are very hard to capture. Under these circumstances the operations of the allied Austro-Hungarian German troops are slowed up in the face of the greatest efforts. Success which are achieved in turn by both sides are only of local importance.

"Speculation concerning far-seeing plans are idle, and as long as natural obstacles prescribe the conduct of the war on both sides, we must be satisfied if we succeed in forcing the Russians back step by step from the mountain borders and simultaneously repel their attempts to break through into Hungary."

No Activity in West.

Paris, Feb. 10.—The French report on the progress of the fighting given out this afternoon reads as follows:

"The day of Feb. 9 was virtually only artillery engagements along the front. At some places this was fairly severe, particularly on the Alsace and in the Champagne. Only one infantry engagement, and this of little importance, has been reported. It occurred in Lorraine, to the northeast of Nancy, where one of our detachments drove the enemy back from the enemy to the town of Leintrey."

MADE TWO ATTEMPTS TO AGREE ON TERMS OF A PEACE TREATY

Overtures Made by French Peace Party Before Battle of Marne—German Proposal Rejected.

Paris, Feb. 10.—Certain French newspapers today reprint with the consent of the government's censors, an article which was published in the Democratic Delegation, stating that previous to the battle of the Marne, a party existed in France which was ready to sign a peace treaty, at the same time sending Germany the towns of Briey and Nancy in French Lorraine, the island of Madagascar and the protectorate of Morocco as well as paying an indemnity. The article contained the following:

"General Joffre, the French commander-in-chief, President Poincaré and most of the cabinet ministers, were opposed to the plan, but the situation became so tense as to necessitate the resignation of Adolphe Messier as minister of war, and the formation of a ministry of national defense.

"After the battle of the Marne, General Joffre, offering to give up the provinces of Alsace and Lorraine with the exception of Strasbourg, receiving in exchange a small portion on the North Sea coast, extending from the mouth of the Scheldt to the mouth of the Rhine, and in addition, was to acknowledge the annexation of Belgium by Germany.

The answer to this proposal was the signing of a convention by the allies to make no separate peace with Germany. The German minister of war, who was appointed to an important position in the pay corps, but later was relieved of this post and sent on a mission to Brazil.

CREW OF ZEPPELIN DROWNED IS REPORT

JOINT SELLING OF GRAIN DISCUSSED

Farmers Take Up Subject at Iowa Meeting—Hope to Increase Efficiency.

Mason City, Ia., Feb. 10.—Co-operative selling of grains and methods by which a group of grain companies can be increased in efficiency, were discussed today before the Farmers' Grain Dealers association of Iowa, by W. H. Kerr, an investigator of marketing and business practices attached to the office of markets, and rural organization, of the federal department of agriculture.

The co-operative selling of grain is in its infancy. The idea will come when practically all of the grain raised by the producer will be marketed by organizations owned, controlled and operated by the producers. The most important question that confronts us today is that of bringing the efficiency of these organizations to the highest possible point.

No business can be successful and secure the greatest benefits for those interested therein, unless it conforms to sound business principles.

From an investigation of farmers' co-operative elevators, it was found that one of the greatest needs was that of a uniform system of accounting," continued Mr. Kerr. He then related the experiment by which the federal government had tried to devise such a system, and said that in the short time a bulletin explaining the system will be issued.

AMBASSADOR GERARD IS DISTURBED BY ANARCHY IN THEATRE AT BERLIN

INTRODUCES LIQUOR BILL IN ASSEMBLY

McGOWAN PROPOSES MEASURE TO CUT SALE OF LIQUORS AFTER JULY 1, 1915.

TO SUBMIT QUESTION TO VOTERS IN SPRING OF NEXT YEAR

When People Will Have Chance to Vote Wet or Dry—Other Bills.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 10.—Whether northern Wisconsin will develop rapidly or not in the future depends in a large degree upon the character of the legislation enacted at this session in the opinion of Assemblyman Edward Nordman of Polk. To secure greater development these counties of the north must be given a greater measure of home rule in taxation. This he would accomplish by the passage of a constitutional amendment giving the counties the option of adopting the single tax. This amendment passed the last legislature and if approved by this will be submitted to vote of the people in the fall of 1916.

"As is well known, the northern section of Wisconsin is but sparsely settled, although the greater part of it is adapted to agriculture," said Assemblyman Nordman in discussing his proposed constitutional amendment. "The real fundamental reason why the land has not been taken up and is not being settled as rapidly as it should be is that practically the whole of this unoccupied territory has been bought up by so-called investors whose sole purpose in buying this land is to hold it for a rise in value. This land is nearly all covered with stumps and slash and on a great deal of it there is a forest of less than 100 years old. It must be removed and the land can be cultivated successfully. It is a costly affair to clear land, put up necessary buildings and get it in shape for the people who will undertake this work are poor and the high price they have to pay, when they purchase this land from investors, is a serious handicap, not only to those settlers, but to the development of the whole section."

Mr. Nordman says that these investors are playing the "dog in the hole" and that as they add nothing to the better being of the community, especially in their capacity as investors.

On the other hand the people who are the bone and sinew of the forward movement in northern Wisconsin are the farmers, but they are not able to do so because they are not able to get the land at a low price. The real purpose of this constitutional amendment is to give local taxing units the right to give local property and improvements from taxation in order that land speculators who are making the improvement.

"If this amendment passes this legislature and is accepted by the voters of the various taxing units, it will give the power to greatly diminish the evil results now come from our policy of permitting and even encouraging investors to speculate in land for mere speculative purposes. In the event the voters of the various taxing districts may then exempt their labor products from taxation and by doing so they will be able to pay as much in taxes on their improved land as the settlers who make the improvements. It is calculated that when the speculators are confronted with this situation that few of them will operate in northern Wisconsin and those who are now in the business will gradually get out of it by selling go of their land at a lower price.

"Settlers will be benefited by this in two ways. First, they will get their land cheaper and second, they will not be taxed extra for the work they do in improving their land. This policy is working out successfully in other parts of the world, where conditions are the same as in northern Wisconsin. There is no reason why it should not work here.

The Nordman resolution is not compulsory. It leaves it for the county by a vote of the people to decide whether they shall put into effect this optional policy of taxation. Under this amendment the state would be paid its taxes for the support of the government the same as now, but the property upon which the collected would be different. The state tax commission in a report just issued calls the attention of the legislature to this amendment and says that it is worthy of serious consideration.

The amendment is more popularly known as the Henry George idea of county taxation, which was advocated in this country by the late Tom Johnson, mayor of Cleveland, when a member of congress. Several of the western states are now considering bills for the complete adoption of the single tax plan.

REPORT THAT BOER LEADER IS EXECUTED BY GERMANS

Pretoria, Union of South Africa, via London, Feb. 10.—The newspapers of Pretoria have published a report that Lieutenant Colonel S. G. Maritz, the Boer officer who has been at the head of the rebellion movement in South Africa, has been executed by the Germans for treachery.

Maritz's movement was supported by the Germans of German Southwest Africa. There is as yet no official confirmation of this report.

According to the story published here Lieutenant Colonel Maritz, when recently negotiating with the Union of South Africa officials for the surrender of his forces, was told that his life was spared. He was, however, that no conditions could be granted, and that the government would be as free to execute him as they would be to put to death the rebel leaders.

Maritz left the camp on the understanding that he would try to bring in the German artillery. Then followed a German attack on Kakamas, and it is suggested in the newspaper accounts that Maritz lead the Germans to Kakamas with the intention of surrendering to the government forces. When this treachery was discovered, the Germans are reported to have promptly attacked Kakamas, but to have been driven off with heavy losses. Maritz then was arrested, and it is said that he probably was executed without further ceremony.

PORTER

Porter, Feb. 9.—M. L. O'Neil and family are here from Monticello, N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Peach are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby boy, born Sunday, Feb. 7. All doing nicely.
Oscar Mable and family of Magnolia have leased Mrs. Earle's farm for the coming year.
Mrs. Nattie Dicks returned to her home in Richland Center on Thursday, after a two weeks' stay with relatives here.
Charles Harnack has purchased the M. Ludden farm.
Those who attended the charity ball at Evansville on Friday evening report a fine time.
Louis Benash is going to move onto the farm vacated by Charles Harnack.

KEEP YOUR CHILDREN STRONG

Some children catch an ailment after another, have colds after colds, while other children are seldom sick. If your children are pale or frail, if they catch colds easily, lack ambition or are backward in school, they need SCOTT'S EMULSION which is rich in the food elements to create good blood to strengthen their bodies and brains. SCOTT'S EMULSION is free from all alcohol or habit forming drugs. CHILDREN RELISH IT. REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

HOME RULE LEAGUE STILL IN THE GAME

IN STATEMENT ISSUED AT MADISON IT LAUNCHES ITS LEGISLATIVE CAMPAIGN.

HAS REPEAL PROGRAM

Favors Abolition of Tax Commission, Highway Commission and Legislative Reference Library.

Despite the fact that one of its members has been indicted by the Madison grand jury in connection with alleged violations of the corrupt practices act during the 1914 election campaign, the Home Rule and Taxpayers' league is not but still manifests a lively interest in things governmental in Wisconsin. A statement published at Madison this week outlines the league's legislative program as follows:

To the Members of the Home Rule and Taxpayers' League:
The legislature is now in session, the most important session held in Wisconsin for over a quarter of a century. The members who were elected last November were given positive instructions in regard to certain public policies. The election followed an earnest, active campaign. The issues before the people were clear and fully discussed. The people had been misled by false promises made, and foolish and dangerous schemes proposed by designing politicians and others, wishing to experiment with legislation.
A movement to remedy some existing evils developed into an attack on popular government and an assault upon the constitution. Fortunately the people, during the year 1914, saw the real danger of the situation, and the legislature, executive and judicial departments, had been substituted (and this so gradually and insiduously that the people did not notice it), a bureau of the American institutions, foreign to our American institutions. This bureaucracy was, and is, a combination of commissions, boards and the state university. Town and municipal officials and county boards have been stripped of the powers that for over half a century they have exercised. Taxation has increased beyond all precedent. The people have been misled by false promises made, and foolish and dangerous schemes proposed by designing politicians and others, wishing to experiment with legislation.

Following the close of the program at one o'clock the young ladies and their escorts had supper of three courses at McDonald's cafe, six tables having been reserved for the girls who were hostesses to their boy friends.

The Misses Margaret Deming, Marjorie Gray, Flora Ryan and Lydia McKibbin, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

Music tonight at the rink.

BROKEN FLANGE HELD FOR BIG RAIL LOSS

Fast Merchandise Freight Crashes Through Depot Near Milwaukee, Causing Conflagration.

Loss to the extent of between $25,000 and $50,000 to the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway Company was caused last night at eleven o'clock by a fire which broke out in the Chicago-Milwaukee merchandise train, which was passing through the depot at Oakwood, overturned the station stove and started a fire which consumed twelve cars and their contents with the railway building. A broken flange on the engine is held accountable for the accident.

All traffic on the main line was tied up and the tracks to the northwestern were used today between Chicago and Milwaukee and vice versa. It is not expected to have the wires removed until tonight. Wrecking crews from both Milwaukee and Chicago began operations at either end of the debris for the clearing of the line.

It was near Oakwood less than two weeks ago that a fast steel train went into the ditch.

Greatest bargain event in the history of Janesville merchandising now going on at this store. You can save big money here now that will save you a lot of money.

NATIONAL'S SCHEDULE MADE PUBLIC TODAY

National League Clubs Get Away for Season on April 14th—Cubs Meet St. Louis at Chicago.

(By Hal Sheridan.)

Philadelphia at Boston.
Brooklyn at New York.
St. Louis at Chicago.
Pittsburgh at Cincinnati.

New York, Feb. 10.—In the foreground of the National League clubs will get away from the pole in the annual pennant fight on Wednesday, April 14. The schedule was announced today. As usual the West leads off with the Cubs at Chicago, having opened Chicago and Cincinnati in the last game of the season. The West and New York and Boston will witness the first game of the season. The season closes October 7.

Following the opening series, the clubs swap places, the Phillies coming to show the Giants their colors, the Dodgers going to engage the world's champion Braves, the Cards invading Cincinnati and the Pirates jumping to Chicago.

The Interseasonal battles do not begin until May 11, when the Western clubs make their first invasion of the East. Until this date each club will play around its own backyard, as it were, before showing their tricks to their rivals across the Alleghenies.

TWO NEW MANAGERS IN NATIONAL CLUBS

Pat Moran Will Have Plenty of Trouble When He Takes Phillies on Training Trip.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
New York, Feb. 10.—Unless some of the managers in the National League get chilly feet and start a re-arrangement policy at this late hour the old circuit is going to get away from the pole in the pennant fight this year with less change in the managerial department than it has for several years.

Only two new skippers are noticed clearing their cohorts for the south coast trip this season. Pat Moran has taken the place of sore-topped Charlie Doherty at the baton over the Phillies, and Rajah Shannan, the portly ex-director of the Cubs, is going to take a whirl at the helm.

It is no stranger to the National League strategists, if there be such things. His methods were pretty well known when he was serving as St. Louis manager, and it was he who was with the Cubs last year.

Moran is somewhat of an unknown quantity. But looking over the nucleus he has to start with, it doesn't appear as though he were going to get very many straws in the paths of George Stallings, Jawn McGraw and the rest of the crew. The Phils' two stay-at-homes, the slick, Sherwood and Hans Lobert, have been let go in trades to Boston and New York.

His pitching staff from this early point wouldn't make the other managers green with envy, especially when it is considered what he selected it. Grover Cleveland Alexander is, of course, the real noise. Rixey and Weaver should prove good men. Deane is rather an unknown quantity. Brennan is more fortunate. He is taking the field with practically the same crowd he worked with last year and one that on paper should be a

MORRIS MILLER

"Were I asked what I considered the biggest asset in favor of Jess Williams' chances in his coming fight with Jack Johnson, I would say it was his championship belt. He has followed every championship fight in the last thirty years, and would undoubtedly answer that the main thing in favor of Williams is the number of experts, and so-called expert authorities, who are picking him for a sure loser."

Restore and rejuvenate the "Pennsylvania system." That's what is being planned by the new football advisory board at the University of Pennsylvania, and what is also expected by the students and graduates before another year rolls around. With such an end in view four of Penn's best known football stars will be advising, or to be honest, bossing the coaching. They are Dr. Carl Williams and "By" Dickson, and Dr. Ernest Cozens. These men will have absolute control over the team, working in conjunction with Head Coach George Brooke, who contract has a year to run.

If Johnny Dundee keeps up the gain he has set in the last couple of years, he may achieve the lightweight championship in which case he would deserve to rank as the greatest son of sunny Italy in the history of the noble art. Up to date, however, the honor belongs to Casper Leon, the little Sicilian bantamweight, who was one of the stars of the ring fifteen or twenty years ago. Dundee, who fought a draw with Johnny Kilbane at Los Angeles last year, Leon was able to hold his own against the champion of his division, but he lacked the punch he would have made him the first Italian champion of the world.

Notre Dame's football game with West Point, N. Y., apparently will furnish the country with about the best line of dope on the respective powers of the eastern and western colleges. Definite word that Harvard and Michigan will not get together this year makes the engagement between the Catholics and West Point the leading intersectional battle of the year.

From Columbia university comes the howl that there is a great dearth of candidates for crew work. Indoor practice has been begun on the rowing machines, but only a handful of candidates showed up. Coach Rice asked for enough varsity candidates to fill eight boats, but got half that number.

"Wild" Bill Donovan, the Yankees' pilot for 1915, has announced that out of the players allowed him by other clubs when the sale of the team was put through he will keep just three. Hugh Phipps, Detroit outfielder; Walter Pipp, Detroit first baseman; and Walter Regh, Boston American outfielder, are the ones who stay. Donovan is mighty sweet on Phipps. He thinks the youngster is all that its name implies—a pipkin.

Bob Sharkey learned recently that he broke his hand in the series last October. The hand had been troubling him for some time, and not long ago a doctor examined it. The examination showed that the two bones in his right finger were badly cracked. Sharkey lays the blame onto Rabbit Maraville. He remembers that after stopping a sizzler of the Rabbit's bat, his hand felt as though it were being pounded. He would be as good as ever next season.

Can Jack Coombs, famed as an "iron" pitcher, be a baseball player, succeed where Jim Jeffries and innumerable other sporting celebrities have failed? Can he come back? Wilbert Robinson, Charlie Ebbets and several million fans would like to know. Robinson and Ebbets have taken a chance and signed him to a Brooklyn contract for 1915.

The first national tennis tournament of 1915 will open in New York city next Friday when the sixteenth annual indoor championship, tourney play is inaugurated. Singles and doubles will be contested and the winners will be heralded as the champions for the present year. G. F. Touchard is the present holder of the singles title and W. C. Grant and G. C. Shafer the doubles champions.

MEET FRIDAY NIGHT FOR LEAGUE TITLE

Methodists and Congregationalists Will Furnish Spectacular Contest on High School Gymnasium Floor.

When the Jansville high school basketball quint to Evansville, Ind. today evening, the high school gymnasium will not be vacant for want of activities. The church league will furnish two of the most interesting battles staged since the organization was formed, when the Methodist and Congregational church gives class for what may be termed the crucial and decisive battle of the season. Despite the fact that the Methodists lost one game to the Presbyterians, the Baptists have a good chance to trim Blair's team in the other battle of Friday. If they do, and the Methodists win, then the Gargill players have but to dispose of the Catholics in another week and clinch the title. The Congregationalists are worrying over their game with the Methodists, and it is safe to say that the Methodists are not over-confident of winning, for the teams are about evenly matched, with the Congregationalists having the slight lead with Lee and Brown. Falter, a brother of mighty "Schultz," will oppose Brown at center, and a basket for either man will be made only after the scorer has made a big effort to beat out his opposing jumper. Brown has the jump. It is believed, but for floor work, Falter is his equal. Beard will have a job guarding Lee, but declares he is going to come on the job when the time comes. Brownell will play sticking guard against Lloyd Craig, the other Cong forward. With this sort of arrangement, there is bound to be some clever work and spectators may look for one of the hardest fought games ever played on the high school gym floor.

The second encounter will be between the Baptists and the Presbyterians. In the three games they have played, the Baptists have held the lead at the close of the first half, but were unable to hold it throughout the struggle. Friday night they hope to win and attempt to get a hold of third place, providing the Methodists trim the Catholics. The Presbyterians are doing well in the Cong five with two victories each and no defeats. The Methodist church is to turn out a large delegation of rooters from its membership, as will the Congregational church. It is expected the gymnasium will be taken to capacity Friday night. Both games will be staged with the least possible roughness, or attempts to foul, which unduly disturbs the spectators. The President of the League, H. Stowe Lovejoy.

SHUGRUE AND WELSH BATTLE TO A DRAW

Champion Welsh in Better Trim Makes Jersey "Skeeter" Clinch and Hold During Greater Part of Bout.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
New York, Feb. 10.—When Joe Shugrue and Freddie Welsh shook hands at the end of their bout at the Garden last night, the admiring worshippers of the admirer of either man, it wasn't a blood curdling affair by any means and only once or twice did the fans get a chance to yawn. Shugrue did not even throw a punch, and he was not so much as to see a real fight through clinching. Two-thirds of the time was spent in prying Shugrue off Welsh.

The fight looked good at the start. Welsh came out and looked mighty lusty, and he snapped out his left dozen of times and sent Joe's head back with a jolt each time. He drove Joe around the ring, the Jersey boy being kept busy blocking.

In the second round Joe took on a full head of steam. He staggered the champion with a left and right to the jaw, and Welsh looked sheepish, although he snatched another right landed on Freddie's nose, and it bled a little. This seemed to bother Welsh's pride a bit, for he went after Shugrue. The bell spoiled a pretty mix, but they continued it in the third.

It became a free for all, both men swinging with all their might. Little damage was done, because accuracy was a thing unthought of. The crowd yelled for Referee Roche break them and they hissed when he rested from his labors a bit.

Joe was cautioned by Roche and so was Welsh. When he hit Joe in the fifth round, Joe's nose bled in the seventh, the result of a fair mix. Welsh was anxious to mix it at all times, but the little Skeeter was wary and always pinned Freck's arm when there was danger of a slugging bee.

Welsh roughed it up in the last round, much to the delight of the gallery gods. He landed hard and often on Joe and was still at it when the final bell tolled.

AT THE APOLLO.

"The Bargain" Tonight.
With all due attention to every detail and the true western atmosphere, Thos. H. Ince has produced for the Paramount Picture Corporation a photoplay in "The Bargain" that is a marvel of technical perfection. A part of the scenes are laid in the beautiful Grand Canyon of Arizona.

In the matter of locations, audiences will find a stunning array of back-grounds containing the virtues they have learned to admire in western films. The differences, of course, are all in favor of "The Bargain," for it keeps pace with the magnitude of the production in its physical aspects, the producers constructed a combination saloon, dance hall and gambling house that quite does away with the notion that the western underworld drinks and gambles and fights in cramped quarters. This remarkable set seems large enough to accommodate a townful of cowboys and desperadoes, without hampering the movements of the dancing girls.

"The Bargain" in five acts will be shown at the Apollo tonight for the last time.

MISNOMERS.

While the ears of official Washington are turned to the sounds of the various senators and their long filibuster to defeat or pass the ship purchase measure, the country as a whole waits with interest the outcome of the contest being waged. It is really of vital importance to the United States what the final result will be, and President Wilson realizes it is the fight of his political career as president to win this fight by some method, with whatever weapons he can grasp, be they republican or democratic or progressive.

During all this discussion pro and con the war there have been numerous misnomers as to the various official terms used. The Wall Street Journal calls attention to some of them, particularly to the use of the word "interned," which has been so grossly misrepresented in dispatches recently. It makes the statement that there is not an interned vessel in the ports of the United States. In explaining this it asserts that "German merchantmen have laid up here and in other ports, of their own choice. But an interned vessel is necessarily a warship—even a collier or a transport without a gun. To allow such a vessel to put to sea would subject a neutral country to an international action for damages, where there would be not even the case Great Britain had in the Alabama claims. For this country to buy an 'interned' vessel would be an act of war."

"There is a disposition in Washington and elsewhere to talk about 'intervention' where mediation is meant, to talk about 'gambling' and 'speculation' as if they were interchangeable terms. But this is not diplomatic usage, which necessarily requires the exact use of words."

"Nothing could have done more to confuse the issues in the position of neutrals in the war, particularly as relates to the ship purchase bill now pending, than the careless use of words by people who should know better. The latest lapse of that kind is a report from Washington that the administration is willing to exclude from the ship purchase measure 'interned' German vessels."

"German vessels of the North German Lloyd or the Hamburg-American companies in dock at Hoboken and elsewhere, are not 'interned.' They are at liberty to leave at any time they choose to clear, if they are willing to take the risk of capture by the allies."

"Of course, the German vessels in this and other ports have not dismantled their machinery, or even displaced their gun mountings. They are still an active factor in the commerce of the Germanic alliance, under all international usage."

"German vessels which have taken refuge here and are presumably eating their heads off in dock, are under no pledge, and doubtless would put to sea with a successful change of the control of the sea power by the allies. Here is a possibility which Washington apparently will not or cannot see. Any international court would explain the difference, before the counsel for this country had argued for five minutes."

NOT IMPOSSIBLE.

Apparently it would not be so impossible to remove a state fair from Milwaukee as it is thought. The failure of the Milwaukee county board to make good its promise of a suitable tract of land, adjacent to the fair grounds for fair purposes if the fair would remain in Milwaukee, not having been made good, the legislature is not in any mood to appropriate the two hundred and fifty thousand dollars for improvement of the grounds that is asked. In fact, the sentiment throughout the state is strongly opposed to putting any more money into the Milwaukee grounds in view of the fact that the fair has not been a financial success and does not really represent the agricultural interests of the state in the composition of its board of managers. Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Madison, and yes, if you please, Janesville, have more to offer in the way of inducements for farmers to exhibit than has Milwaukee. In fact, the Janesville fair, held here last August, had a better grade of exhibits in various classes than did the state fair held in September. The field of horses that started here in the various events was larger and of more uniform class than those started in Milwaukee. The local track is in far better condition than the Milwaukee track ever will be if thousands of dollars are spent on it. It is not an impossible feat to have the location of the state fair moved from Milwaukee to some other city and one by which the state as a whole would be the benefited party and the agricultural interests safeguarded far better than they are at present. Why not consider the project on its merits, not on sentiment? Why take the empty promises of the Milwaukee residents in place of the bonafide offers of other communities? Move the fair from Milwaukee, sell the Milwaukee grounds and appropriate the two hundred and fifty thousand dollars for new buildings on the new site and a fair could be held that would be a credit to Wisconsin, one of the greatest agricultural states in the union.

WORDS OF WARNING.

Senator O'Gorman of New York utters words of warning to the democratic party that he calls attention to the fact that if the democratic caucus insist on binding all democratic senators to vote as the majority see fit they are going to transfer the present democratic state of New York into a republican stronghold. What is true of New York state is true of other communities and O'Gorman is really reading the handwriting on the wall to the men who feast with Belshazzar, blinded by the success of their victory against a divided foe at the polls two years ago. If the words are heeded the advent of the republican hosts into the sacred precincts of the nation's capital may be averted in part, but the end is in sight just as though the words "Mene Tekel Upharshin" were written on the walls of the United States senate chamber.

MANY DISAPPOINTMENTS.

Aside from causing untold inconvenience to the individuals and corporations, the so-called democratic deficiency currency measure has fallen short in many instances of the amounts estimated that would be added to the national treasury. In the instance of the special tobacco stamp act but $1,084,552 was collected which has been hoped that fully five millions would be raised from this source alone. If the rest of the various branches of industry paid in like deficiencies we may expect even more stringent methods of taxation later on to make up the deficit in the government's purse so that the "pork barrel" can be properly filled for the benefit of the ambitious democratic statesmen.

One ambitious state senator from Texas would divide his state into two states, just as the Dakotas were divided years ago. Evidently he does not know the temper of his fellow citizens or has never visited the Panhandle country during a cattle roundup.

Scientists now talk of curing hay fever patients by injecting the pollen of the plant said to have caused it. Our ancestors always firmly believed in cures of bites by the hair of the dog that causes the trouble, so science has invented nothing new after all.

Wheat grown in flower boxes in city flats might be a proposition to bring down the price of bread if this European war continues, and scheming market manipulators continue to reap rich harvests from their speculations.

Unless California does get into some kind of a war all its own it should have a great run of tourists this coming summer of people who can not go to Europe.

PRESS FREE SPEECH UPHELD AT MADISON

House Vote Splits on Resolution to Make Editor Furnish Proof on "Liquor Control" Editorial.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Madison, Wis., Feb. 10.—After one of the sharpest debates in the assembly this year, the house yesterday afternoon killed the resolution of Assemblyman Carl Hansen of Manitowish, editor of the Wisconsin State Journal, before the assembly to offer proofs to sustain an editorial he has published charging "the liquor business is the one business that owns the legislature of Wisconsin." The final vote was 43 to 43, and the resolution failed of a majority.

As soon as the assembly had convened Assemblyman Hansen asked for permission to address the house. He read the editorial and then asked if there was any member in the body who was owned by the liquor interests to stand up. This brought a long laugh from the members to which Assemblyman Hansen quickly replied: "I am asking this question of you and not of myself. I am standing here so that I may address you."

He then showed that the corrupt practice act prohibited the expending of money in saloons, but that it did not prohibit the spending of money in newspapers. He said that the law for printing of the laws at the end of the session was a distribution of them by the papers was a "graft." He then offered his resolution to have the editor of the State Journal appear before the house to explain this statement.

Assemblyman Hambrecht, Axel Johnson and Vint then opposed the passage of the resolution. Vint said that if the assembly were to take notice of the session was closed every editor in Wisconsin would be summoned before the bar of the assembly. He believed there should be "freedom of press."

Assemblyman Spooner said, "T. C. Richmond made a similar charge before the last legislature. He said that every man who did not vote for the five-mile dry zone in Madison was a liquorist."

He said that any man who makes charges like this before this body will be called to his face." Kurtenmacher of La Crosse agreed with Mr. Hansen that the editor should offer proof. Assemblyman Falk attempted to have the resolution laid over to St. Valentine's day, but failed.

VETERAN SKIPPER DIES

AT AGE OF 103 YEARS; FAMED IN SAILING DAYS

London, Feb. 10.—Captain David Jackson, 103 years old, who just died of heart failure at his home in Toots, was for nearly fifty years a famous mariner on ships between England and America. He made his first trip as a cabin boy in 1817.

Captain Jackson received a letter of congratulation from the king on his hundredth birthday, and a similar letter each year since.

One of the old man's boasts was that only once had he been aboard a steamship, all his other voyages having been made in the days of sailing vessels.

AT ONCE! STOPS STOMACH MISERY AND INDIGESTION

"PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN" MAKES SICK, SOUR, GASSY STOMACHS FEEL FINE.

Do some foods you eat hit back—taste good, but work badly; ferment into stubborn lumps and cause a sick, sour, gassy stomach. Now, Mr. or Mrs. Dyspeptic, jot this down: Pape's Diapepsin digests everything, leaving nothing to sour and upset you. There never was anything so safely quick, so certainly effective. No difference how badly your stomach is in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it strengthens and regulates your stomach so you can eat your favorite foods without fear.

Most remedies give you relief sometimes—they are slow, but not sure. "Pape's Diapepsin" is quick, positive and puts your stomach in a healthy condition so the misery won't come back.

You feel different as soon as "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach—distress just vanishes—your stomach gets sweet, no gases, no belching, no eructations of undigested food, your head clears and you feel fine.

Go now, make the best investment you ever made, by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia, or any stomach disorder.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

THE BUYING INTOXICATION.

A staid and rather reserved neighbor of mine astonished me when I met him on the street the other day by telling me enthusiastically and at length about a beautiful fur cap which he just bought at a great bargain. Of course there was nothing astonishing in his buying it. The surprising thing was that he who had never before spoken to me except on an impersonal, conventional subject, should confide this personal detail to me. Couldn't he have been "under the weather?" I hear someone suspecting.

RUTH CAMERON

No, my friend, he's not that kind. He wasn't intoxicated, at least not in the common sense of the word. In the less common sense he was—intoxicated with the delight of buying.

Can't you recognize from your own experience that there is such an intoxication and haven't you often seen people under its influence?

A Feminine Form of Spree.

Men are less frequently affected that way than women, partly because they buy less, partly because it's a feminine form of excitement.

I met a quiet little friend of mine on the trolley the other day. Her cheeks were flushed, her eyes shining, she talked cheerily and well. It was evident that she had been stimulated out of herself to some extent, and sure enough, it soon came to the surface. She had just bought a new suit. And actually a glass of wine couldn't have roused and stimulated and exhilarated her any more than the excitement of buying that suit.

Clothes a Powerful Intoxicant.

Any fairly important purchase fills us with some of the elation and excitement, but the purchase of clothes seems to have an especially powerful effect.

The desire to look well is one of the primitive passions. Versal laws of the all nature. Someone has said, "There is a comfort in being well dressed which religion cannot give." An irreverent overstatement, of course, but with a grain of truth in it.

Of course, like all intoxications, the elation is apt to leave us rather depressed when it passes away, and that is a good time to look the realities in the face and remember that after all "things" aren't the bigger part of life.

WAR'S UNHAPPIEST VICTIMS AT DOOR OF AMERICAN WOMAN

Mrs. Brand Whitlock.

Mrs. Whitlock has been in every movement for mitigating the sufferings of those around her, and to a large extent she has shared their privations.

hands, washing it off with hot water; then after wiping them use a lotion composed of an ounce each of glycerine and bay rum and 20 drops of carbolic acid. Perfume if you wish. Dip your fingers in almond oil before going to bed and cover with powdered chalk. Then put on old kid gloves. This will keep skin moist.

(5) Heartburn is caused by indigestion. Be careful to eat simple, easily digested food. Chew it well.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Do you know of a good furniture polish? Also, what pumice soap is made of and for what it is used.

A STEADY READER. A very good furniture polish is composed of equal parts golden oil and soft water. Shake them together until mixture is frothy; then apply with soft cloth and polish. I like Johnson's prepared wax rubbed on the furniture and polished with a warm cloth. It gives a beautiful luster and protects it from scratches. Pumice is thrown from volcanoes and when made into a soap is good for removing stains from the hands.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We have a very pretty little girl (we think) six years old. She is our only child and she has very fair skin, large blue eyes and light curly hair, but under her right eye is a small red spot about the size of a pinhead. This spot is very visible owing to her fair complexion and in the last year it has gotten larger. We have never put anything on it for fear of making matters worse. As far as we can remember she had this spot since birth. We would appreciate your advice very much.

CONSTANT READERS. I should hesitate to advise in such a case. If the spot continues to grow lose no time in seeing a skin specialist.

Household Hints

CANDIES.

Puffed Rice Candy—Put half box puffed rice in shallow buttered pan and place in hot oven until crispness is restored. Roll together half cup sugar, one-eighth cup molasses, half tablespoon vinegar, one tablespoon boiling water, one-fourth cup butter until a little tried in cold water forms a soft ball. Remove from stove and pour over puffed rice. Mix until all of rice is covered with taffy. Set aside to cool and break into pieces. The more you eat of this the more you want.

Nut Candy—Take two cups sugar, butter size just egg one cup milk; boil until a soft ball will form by dropping into cold water. Chop one cup nut meats, spread on greased platters pour candy over and, when cold, cut in bars or put nut meats in and stir until cold.

Chocolate Drops—One-half pound sugar, whites of two eggs beaten stiff, one ounce chocolate. Mix well, drop on buttered tin, bake in moderate oven.

Maple Wax—Boil two cups maple syrup (fill a large pan with packed snow), keep on back of stove where syrup will just keep warm pour syrup over panful of snow little by little. Take off in small pieces with a silver fork. If there is no snow, use a cake of ice.

Maple Candy—Crush one pound maple sugar, stir in two cups hot milk, place on fire, stir until sugar is dissolved. When candy is done add one tablespoon butter. Pour out on buttered plate.

Maple Sea Foam—Three cups maple syrup, one-fourth teaspoon cream of tartar, white of an egg. Boil syrup and tartar until it forms soft ball when dropped in cold water. Remove from fire. Beat white of egg until stiff, pour syrup on slowly, beating all the time until cool enough to dip with fork on greased plate. The pieces will be different shape.

This little case proves its value if you happen to tear a hole in a dress or stocking while out walking.

EMERGENCY CASE FOR PURSE.

This emergency case is small enough to be carried in the purse or shopping bag. The case is made of needed cash, folded at the top closed case, measures two inches long and an inch and a half wide. The cardboard foundation is padded with flannel, and then covered with flowered ribbon. The inside leaves are cut from flannel, with edges buttonholed in white or colors.

The case contains the following: One large safety pin, one small safety pin, several assorted black and white-headed pins, two needles, one threaded with white and the other with black darning cotton, and a small round common pins are lengths of white and black thread and silk to match the colors of the owner's different dresses.

SAUSAGE MADE OF RICE.

The Japanese eat sausage that is absolutely free from dog, cow, pig, horse or other animal that is popularly supposed to enter into the construction of the common sausage.

Instead it is made only of rice, which is well boiled—usually in water, but sometimes in milk—until the entire mass has reached the proper consistency.

After being cooled the rice is molded into sticklike lengths with the fingers. These are put in oil paper cases instead of the skin used in the regulation sausage.

This nonmeat sausage is served either whole or cut up and eaten along with other foods.

FLOUR KEEPS SILVER BRIGHT.

Place in a cardboard box a layer of ordinary flour, then lay the forks and spoons upon it, and cover thickly with flour. They will remain quite bright for any length of time.

MOTHER MCGREW AND BARTHOLOMEW BULL-FROG.

If you've ever been near the water at all, You've seen or heard Bull-Frogs; of course; So I'm going to tell you the reason that they Are every last one of them hoarse.

Bartholomew Bull-Frog was careless about Remembering the things he was told; He'd waded through mud puddles and got his feet wet, And then have a terrible cold.

Or maybe he'd waken at night with the croup And frighten his family a lot; And his only excuse for the trouble he'd make Was the very poor one, "I forgot."

This happened so often it finally became A nuisance, and Mother McGrew Was almost worn out; so she said, "I will teach You a lesson, that's what I will do."

So the very next time this young Bull-Frog came in With his little feet soaked through and through, She gave him a tap with her magical stick (It was really a right hard tap, too).

She said, "You shall live in a swamp all your life, And no matter how much you tease or how wet, I will not change my mind; you shall paddle about, And get just as hoarse as you please."

And Bartholomew Bull-Frog hopped off to the pond; He thought it a very good joke, But he soon changed his mind, for he got a sore throat, And his voice was a horrible croak.

And though from that minute his family has lived Around in the water a lot, They'll tell you all Bull-Frogs have had a bad cold Since Bartholomew Bull-Frog "forgot."

I feel pretty certain you've often been told That you never should get your feet wet; But the fate of Bartholomew Bull-Frog will show What happens to those who forget.

gives out sufficient heat to warm up rations.

From the chemist's standpoint solidified alcohol is still existent, all efforts to arrive at this result at ordinary temperature having failed. The availability of a so-called solidified alcohol is due to the genius of the smuggler. About ten years ago a man conceived the idea of crushing grated white soap in a mortar and mixing with it its weight in alcohol. In this form the alcohol passed the customs inspector as soap, and a subsequent simple process of distillation restored the alcohol to its natural state.

This was the process taken up by the army to furnish soldiers in the trenches a convenient, inconspicuous means of heating their food.

ENGLAND IN EXPLANATION WHY MORE SOLDIERS HAVE NOT BEEN SENT TO FRONT.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

London, Feb. 9.—For the first time since the outbreak of the war the British press is admitting that the French people are a little puzzled about the slowness of Great Britain in throwing men into the fighting line. A vigorous campaign of education to promote mutual understanding is what is needed, according to the Paris correspondent of The Times, and he hints that the recent visit to England of Millerand, the French minister of War, "will be an encouragement" in this direction.

"It is hard," says this writer, "to explain to the Frenchman in the street the many difficulties England has had to contend with in the formation of her new armies. A great many Frenchmen are under the impression that in England we have ## obligatory service. A still greater number believe, in the absence of news to the contrary, that we have but the original one hundred thousand men in France. They are all-important and informed—Frank and generous in their admiration of our troops, but they cannot prevent a certain wistful envy from arising now and then, when they read of our normal lives at home.

"Much useful work is now being done by several of the large newspapers which have for some days past been explaining the extent of the effort we are making. More work of the same nature can be done both in England and France, and Mr. Millerand's visit will be an encouragement to all efforts in this direction."

Wonderful Cuban Caves. The wonderful caves of Bellamar, Cuba, to the east of Havana, attract the attention of the ambitious tourist. They are on a plateau as level as a table top, which presents no signs of the existence of such caves. After descending into the earth, however, a picture unfolds itself. Then come many passages, and at last the great "Gothic temple," 250 feet long and 80 feet wide.

LADIES! SECRET TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Bring Back Its Color and Lustre with Grandma's Sage Tea Recipe.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

White wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1 I am a girl of twenty-one and am chum with my friends. We go out every Sunday and the other girls always flirt and make the acquaintance of young men without introduction. When I tell them it is wrong and looks cheap they laugh at me and say, "You, with your old maidish ways, will never get friends, can't do as they do, so I refuse their company. Am I doing right?"

(2) I have a brother nineteen years old, who refuses to work. My parents have tried to get him to work, but he says, "I should worry." What can we do?

(3) Please give me a recipe for orange frosting and filling and marshmallow filling.

(4) What causes my fingers to become dry at the tips after having my hands in hot water?

(5) What causes heartburn? How can I cure it?

TOODLES.

(1) Certainly you cannot afford to cheapen yourself by being in such company.

(2) Your father and mother would take a firm stand and tell the young man he could either leave home and shift for himself or get a job. I think he would worry a little more, that is if they meant it and he knew it.

(3) Marshmallow filling: Dissolve five teaspoons of powdered gum arabic in half a cup of water, add half a cup of powdered sugar and boil until thick enough to form a soft ball between the fingers when dropped into ice water. Pour over the white of an egg beaten stiff, flavor with a teaspoonful of vanilla and a few drops of lemon juice and spread on the cake with a knife dipped in hot water.

Orange filling: Juice and rind of two oranges, two tablespoons cold water, two cups sugar; set in a pan of boiling water, when scalding hot stir in the yolk of an egg and before taking from the fire stir in a stiffly beaten white.

Orange frosting: Peel two large oranges, take the juice and stir in as much powdered sugar as it will hold, add a little melted butter and the yolk of an egg; again add sugar until stiff enough to spread on the cake.

(4) Lack of oil is the cause of the dry feeling in your fingers. Keep a tin of vasoline on the sink and use it instead of soap to clean your

Neuralgia

There is no need to suffer the annoying, excruciating pain of neuralgia; Sloan's Liniment laid on gently will soothe the aching head like magic. Don't delay. Try it at once.

Hear What Others Say
"I have been a sufferer from Neuralgia for several years and have tried different liniments, but Sloan's Liniment is the best. I have tried it successfully; it has never failed."—F. H. Williams, Augusta, Ark.
Mrs. Ruth C. Claypool, Independence, Mo., writes: "A friend of ours told us about your Liniment. We have been using it for 10 years and think there is nothing like it. We use it on everything, even cuts, burns, bruises, sore throats, headaches and on everything else. We can't get along without it. We think it is the best Liniment made."

HOW TO CLEAR AWAY PIMPLES

Bathe your face for several minutes with resinal soap and hot water, then apply a little resinal ointment very gently. Let this stay on ten minutes, and wash off with resinal soap and more hot water, finishing with a dash of cold water to close the pores. Do this once or twice a day, and you will be astonished to find how quickly the healing resinal medication soothes and cleanses the pores, removes pimples and blackheads, and leaves the complexion clear and velvety.
Resinal ointment and resinal soap stop itching instantly and speedily heal skin humors, sores, burns, wounds and chafing. Sold by all druggists.

SOAP FOR BABY'S TENDER SKIN
The regular use of resinal soap is usually enough to prevent those distressing rashes and chafings to which most babies are subject. This is so, first, because resinal soap is absolutely pure and free from harsh alkali, and second, because it contains the resinal medication, on which so many physicians rely for skin troubles.

THE LADY AND THE PIRATE

By EMERSON HOUGH

Copyright, 1913, by Emerson Hough

"You take the wagon there sometimes with vegetables and milk and eggs, and so you met Jimmy, here, and you went fishing together, and he told you stories out of his book. I fear, John, that your father likes you because you go fishing on Sunday. That was why you resolved to run away. You led Jimmy into that with you. You were afraid I might tell on you, and, besides, you were pirates now, and so you took me prisoner. Marry, good sir, 'tis not the first time a prisoner has joined a pirate band!"

"That's wonderful!" gasped Jean T. Lafitte Saunders.
"You won't give us away?" The elder pirate's face was eager.

"On the contrary, I'll see that you don't get into any trouble."
"That's a good scout!" ejaculated he fervently, his freckled face flushing.
"We wasn't that is, we hadn't—well, you see!" began Jimmy. "Maybe we'd just have camped down here and gone back tomorrow. I was afraid about taking the boat. Besides, I've only got about $6, anyhow."

"Have no fear," said I. "Tonight I shall write a few letters that will clear up every trouble back home and allow us to continue our journey to the Spanish main."

"Oh, will you?" cried Jimmy, much relieved. "That'll be a good scout," he added.
Suddenly I found myself smiling at him—I, who had smiled so rarely these years because Helena had left me so sad.

"But if I promise you also must promise to return."
Used as I was already to the astounding changes in Jimmy from boy to buccaner and back again, I was now in-

"Speak, fellow!" he demanded, interested at the fall away which he summoned to his features as soon as he felt relieved as to the domestic situation. "Speak, fellow!" he demanded, and, folding his arms, presented so threatening a front that I saw my man Hiroshimi covertly lay hold upon a carving knife.
"Why, then, my hearties," said I, "tis thus. I'll sign on as sea lawyer and scrivener as well as pursuer for the ship. Yes, I'll sign articles and voyage with you for a week or a month or two months or three. I'll provender the ship and will keep ye safe against any enemy we may meet, be he whom he may."

"Tis well," said L'Olonnois. "Say on."
"And in return I ask a boon, that I, too, shall be accepted as one of the brotherhood. Oh, listen, I broke out impulsively. 'I have never been a pirate, and I have never been a boy. I have had everything in the world I wanted, and it made me awfully lonesome, because when you have everything you have nothing. Especially I do not want to think. Boys do not think, and I want to be a boy. I want to be a pirate with you. I want to seek my fortune with you."

"Will ye be good brother and true pirate," demanded L'Olonnois, "and will ye take the oath of blood?"
"That I will," said I.
"Brothers and good shipmates all," broke in Jean Lafitte in a deep voice, "what say ye? Shall we put him to the oath?"

"Aye, aye, sir," responded the deep chorus of scores of full chested voices, or at least so it seemed to us, though maybe 'twas no more than Jimmy who spoke.

"Swear him, then," commanded Jean Lafitte. "Swear him by the oath of blood."

"We—we haven't any blood," whispered L'Olonnois aside, somewhat troubled.

"That have we, mates," said I, "and the ceremony shall have full solemnity."

I took up my keen hunting knife and deliberately and slowly opened the side of my thumb, more to the pain of Jimmy, I fancy, than to myself, as I could see by the twitch of his features.

"By this blood I swear," said I, "and on the point of my blade I swear to be a true pirate, to fight the fight of all, to divulge no plans of the company and to share with my brothers share and share alike of all booty we may take."

"Tis well!" said L'Olonnois, much impressed and delighted, as also was his mate, very evidently.

"And now, my brothers," said I, "you also must swear to divulge no secret of mine that you may learn, to tell nothing of my plans, or my name, or the name of the port where I signed on the rolls."

"We don't know your name," said Jimmy, "but neither of us will give you away."

Jean Lafitte was all for opening up his own thumb for blood, but I stopped him. "This will do," said I and stained his fingers and those of L'Olonnois, who grew pale at the sight of it to his evident disgust.

So thus I became a pirate, and we three were brother rovers of the deep. I fancied my associates would be loyal. I was thinking of a certain cousin of the younger pirate. Not for worlds would I seek to pursue her now, but there had arisen in my soul already a sort of strange wonder whether some intent of fate had sent this youngster here to remind me once more of her whom I would forget.

"Now," said I at last, "let us seek what fare the castle offers for the night."

If two buccaners in my castle slept well that night a third did not. Apophies might go bang. I did not fancy my new microscope. I doubted if my last violin were a real Strad. I did not like the last music my dealers had sent out to me. My studies of Confucius and Buddha might go bang, and my new book as well. For now before me came the face of a certain pirate's aunt, and she was indeed a lady fair. And I knew full well, as I had known all these years, although I had tried to deceive myself into believing otherwise, that, gladly as I had exchanged the city for the wilderness, with equal gladness would I exchange my leisure, all my wealth, all my belongings for a moment's touch of her hand, a half hour of talk heart to heart with her, so that, indeed, I might know the truth; so that, at least, I might have it direct from her, bitter though the truth might be.

In the morning I heard my pirate guests arguing over some matter, which proved to be no more serious than the question of a cold bath of mornings, Jimmy maintaining that everybody had a cold bath every morning, whereas John insisted with equal heat that nobody ever bathed ("washed," I think he called it) oftener than once a week—wot on Saturdays only. They engaged in a pillow fight to settle it, and as Jimmy had John fairly well smothered by his rapid fire I voted that the eyes appeared to have it when they referred the point to me.

All went well until the keen eyes of Jimmy, wandering about my place, noticed a certain photograph which rested on the top of my piano, where I was much comforted always to have it, especially of an evening, when sometimes I played Mendelssohn's "Spring Song" or other music of the like. It was the picture of the woman who did not know and very likely did not care where or how I lived—Helena Emory, or my mind one of the most beautiful women of her day, and I have seen the world's portraits of the world's beauties of all recorded days in beauty. Toward this Jimmy ran excitedly—I, with equal speed, endeavoring to divert him from his pur-

"But it's my Auntie Helen!" he protested when I recovered it and placed it in my pocket.

"It is your auntie daddiesticks, Jimmy," said I hastily, hoping my color was not heightened. "It is your grandmother! Finish your breakfast."

"I guess I ought to know"—he began.
"What?" I rejoined. "Wouldst pit your wisdom against one who has the second sight? Have a care, shipmate!"

"It was!" he reiterated. "I know there ain't anybody pretty as she is, so it was."

"But what'd he be doing with Miss Emory's picture, Jimmy?" argued Lafitte.
"That's what I'd like to know," I added. "It may be that in your haste you have confused in your mind,

They Engaged in a Pillow Fight to Settle It.

Jimmy, some portrait with that of the Princess Amelle Louise of Funstenburg. Jimmy did not know that a photograph of the princess herself also stood upon the piano top, and he gazed somewhat confusedly at the portrait which I now produced before his eyes.

"Who was she?" he inquired.
"A very charming young lady of rank who eloped with a young man not of rank. In short, although she did not marry a chauffeur, she did marry an automobile agent. And surely, Jimmy, your Auntie Helen—wherever she may be—would do no such thing as that and still claim to be a cousin of a L'Olonnois?"

"I don't know. You can't always tell what a girl's going to do," said Jimmy sagely. "But, I don't think Auntie Helen's going to marry an auto man."

"Why, Jimmy?" (I found pleasure and dread alike in this conversation.)
"Because everybody says she's going to get married to Mr. Davidson, and he's a commission man."

Now, I am sure my face did not flush. It may have paled. I tried to be composed. I reached for the melon dish and remarked: "Yes? And who is he? And, really, who is your Auntie Helen, Jimmy, and what does she look like?" I spoke with a fine air of carelessness.

"She looks like the princess," said Jimmy, replied Jimmy. "And Mr. Davidson's rich. He's got a house on our lake this summer, and he lives in New York and has offices in Chicago and travels a good deal. He has some sort of factory, too, and he's awful rich. I like him pretty well. He knows how all the ball clubs stand, both leagues, every day in the year. You ought to know him, because then you might get to know my Auntie Helen. If they got married, like as not I could take you up to their house. I thought everybody knew Mr. Davidson and my Auntie Helena too."

CHAPTER III.
In Which We Sail For the Spanish Main.

EVERYBODY did. Why should I not know Cal Davidson, one of the dearest chaps in the world? Why not since we belonged to half a dozen of the same clubs in New York and other cities? Why not since this very summer I had put my private yacht (named, oddly enough, the Belle Helena) in commission for the first season in three years and chartered her for the summer around Mackinaw and a cruise down the Mississippi to the Gulf that fall? Why not since I had still unbanked the handsome check Davidson had insisted on my taking as charter money for the last quarter?

Davidson! Of all men I had counted him my friend. And now here was he, reputed to be about to marry the girl who, as he knew, must have known, ought to have known, was all the world to me. And my own yacht! Why, no man may know what may go forward in a yachting party. And if perchance that fall he could persuade to accompany him Helena and her chaperon I made no doubt that would be her Aunt Lucinda, for Helena's mother died when she was a child, what could not so clever a man as Davidson, I repeat, one with so much of a way with women, accomplish in a journey so long as that, with no other man as his rival? It would be just like Cal Davidson to go ashore at St. Louis long enough to find a chaplain and then go on ahead for a honeymoon around the world—on my boat with my—no, she was not mine—but, then—Davidson must be found at once, must be baited in midcareer.

It was about this time that Hiroshimi came in with the morning's mail and telegrams, but I paid small attention to him.

Hiroshimi coughed. "Supposing honorable like to see these yellow wire envelopings."

I glanced down and idly opened the telegram. It was from Cal Davidson himself, and read:

Name best price outright sale bill Helen to me answer Chicago.

So then the scoundrel actually was on his way down the lakes, headed for the south, even thus early in the season. I knew, of course, that Bill Helen meant Belle Helena. As though I would sell my boat to him, of all men. It might almost as well have been a sale of Helena herself outright, as this cursed telegram stated. I crumpled the sheet in my hand.

"If honorable contemplates some answering of mail this morning, it will be one or were till the miserable pony mail carry all man comes," ventured Hiroshimi.

Dinner Stories

The driver of an automobile saw in the road ahead of him an old farmer and a dog. The farmer turned to the path in order to give the automobile room to get by, but the dog remained in the middle of the road, was caught by the car and instantly killed.

The driver went back to see what the damage had been and found the farmer gazing at the dog's body. The driver handed the farmer a $10 bill and asked if that would be enough to pay for the dog. The farmer said it would. The driver got into his car and drove away.

Little Lola was standing at the front gate gazing anxiously up and down the street when a lady passer-by paused and asked: "Are you looking for someone, dear?"

"Yes, ma'am," replied Lola. "Dinner is on the table and I came out to see if mamma's husband was coming."

A boy handed his teacher this note, written by his mother: "Dear Teacher: You keep telling my boy to breathe with his diaphragm. Maybe rich children have got diaphragms, but how about it when their father only makes $1.50 a day and has got nine children to keep. First it's one neviangled thing and then another, and now it's diaphragms, and that's the worst yet."

"Yes, ma'am," said Little Eric in reply to a query. "I like going to school, also coming from school. But what I don't like is staying there between times."

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "tired," "heavy," "foggy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. At 100 and 250 per box. All druggists. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, Ohio.

Berlin One of The Wonders of Europe

Describing Berlin, the National Geographic society has prepared the following statement:

"Like Washington more an accomplishment of careful planning than the outcome of unconscious growth, Berlin, third greatest among the war capitals and sixth among the cities of the world, is a solid city of splendid spacing, where everything is new, asphalt, stone, steel and cement, and where everything is new. Prior to the war, it was the first city in Europe for revival. Life never ceased upon its central streets. When the hurrying crowds of workers sought their places of employment in the morning they regularly met a throng, heavily-laden and leisurely, going home. There is a saying that the genuine Berliner never sleeps. However this may be, there are always places for him to go in this city where theatres, concert halls, cabarets, dance halls, cafes and similar places are of luxuries growth.

Berlin is the heart of Europe. It is the great central metropolis of the mother continent, to which all roads lead. In peace times, it is the core of all the city nerve-ganglia in Europe. When trade or tourist took the road between Paris and Rotterdam, between Hamburg and Constantinople, between Antwerp and Vienna, between Stockholm and Paris, the way always led through Berlin. All day long and all night long before the war, it was a puffed out of its various stations at the rate of several every minute, speeding from the mighty heart of Europe toward every compass point. From the Friedrichstrasse station alone, more than 700 trains were dispatched each day.

"Sent of the imperial court and parliament, a focal point of German science, art and general culture, home of the German military art, financial center of the empire, rich in manufactures, and one of Europe's greatest marts for international exchange, Berlin is a place of international significance ranking with London.

"In this city there is pleasure on every hand, and all ill-chance is eliminated by the government. A man may not be robbed by cabdrivers, hoteliers, shopkeepers, or by his servants. He may not walk over railway tracks, and it is illegal for him to block the path of street traffic to his and its detriment. In other words, he is with-out the law when successfully exposing himself to the dangers of vehicular collision. A jealous system of laws and of police regulations are met at every turn for his protection.

"Berlin has a Luna park, brought to the capital on the Spree by an American. The same lavish use of bright lights and brilliant lights are found in it as characterize our original parks, but the shoot-the-shoots, the scenic railways and so on have been thrills remains, much less an element of danger.

"Unter den Linden (under the Linden) is the heart of Berlin. It is one of the most impressive avenues in the world; and, only about 1/2 of a mile in length, it is one of the very widest streets to be found in any city (198 feet), and on its sides are massed two double lines of massive architecture. It is a thoroughly cosmopolitan street, upon which every tongue is spoken, and where each human variation may be seen.

"Berlin lies upon the languid little Spree—a dull stream in the midst of a flat, melancholy sand waste. Though very new in both its imperial and cosmopolitan dignities, the city is yet a place of wonderful libraries, museums, art collections, and statues. Its streets, squares, granite buildings and parks are filled with some of the sculptors and modelers' noblest work. For the most part, the plastic works breathe martial spirit."

RECEIVED PETITION FOR STREET PAVING

Property Owners Wish Block of South Bluff Street Paved With Asphalt Macadam.

A petition to pave South Bluff street between South Third and Oakland avenue, with asphalt macadam at the cost of the property owners, was introduced by J. P. Cullen at the regular council meeting held yesterday afternoon. This is one block and asphalt macadam was the type of pavement seemed so as to confirm with the paving on the other streets.

Mayor Fathers stated that the majority of property owners had the right to recommend what type of paving should be laid, at the public hearing which would be held later. The petition will be taken up by the board of public works at their next meeting. The paper contained the following names of property owners: J. P. Cullen, George A. Clark, I. M.

Holsapple, Hans Persson, O. D. Antisdel and H. P. Bliss.

The petition of P. H. Quinn Quinn for permission to tear off the second story of the building on North River street and use the floor as a roof, was referred back to the council by the meeting of the commission the council referred the paper to Chief Klein for recommendation. No recommendation was made by the fire chief, who said that a part of this building stands upon a public highway, the council. The petition was referred to the council and filed, but no further action was taken by the commission toward granting and refusing the right for repairs on this damaged structure.

The police report for the month of January, made by Chief P. D. Champion, was received and filed.

Mayors Fathers announced the appointment of Merton Miller as special police officer, without pay, for the Apollo theatre. The appointment was confirmed.

WISCONSIN LAW IS LOST IN SHUFFLE

Statute Disappears Through the Process of Revision.

How, by inadvertence, inattention or neglect on the part of those who write the code, the statutes of the commonwealth may be lost, resulting in confusion, is shown in two opinions yesterday by Attorney General Owen, one to District Attorney J. C. Davis of Sawyer county and the other to District Attorney R. E. Truheart of Taylor county, in both of which it is recorded that an important law, under which many counties of the state have provided for the payment of salaries to sheriffs and deputy sheriffs is not the law at all—except in Milwaukee county.

How this came about Attorney General Owen explains thus: "For some reason not explained Sanborn & Sanborn (the revisers) in compiling the supplement to the Wisconsin statutes in 1906, threw out section 1906 of the statutes of 1898 and inserted in its place chapter 217 of the laws of 1901. The revisers of the statutes of 1911 and 1913 copied from said supplement and the error was there perpetuated and has resulted in much confusion.

"Because of this error of omission, county boards, acting under authority of the law as it should have been, have at times paid salaries of sheriffs and deputy sheriffs only to find that their action is unlawful. Counties of Sawyer and Taylor find themselves in this predicament and Attorney General Owen holds that the resolution of the county board of Taylor county provides no compensation for deputy sheriffs. The sheriff is authorized to appoint deputies but he cannot provide for their compensation. This is a mistake on the part of the county board, which on the basis of payment was made under a law that, because of defects in the law, because of defects in the law, because of defects in the law, applies only to Milwaukee county."

REVIVAL OF PINAFORE SHOWN LAST EVENING

De Wolf Hopper and the Gilbert & Sullivan Singers Appear in Grand Double Bill of Pinafore and Trial By Jury.

H. M. S. Pinafore, the longest lived comic opera on the stage, was given last evening at Myers Theatre by De Wolf Hopper and the Gilbert & Sullivan Opera company, and was again shown to be possessed of delightful satire and melodious properties. Laugh and encore demonstrations of the main characters demonstrated that the company had an easy victory with their audience.

There is not much to be said about Pinafore that hasn't already been said, inasmuch as it has been on the stage uninterruptedly since 1878. Hopper is still full of satiric passages, beautiful scenery, excellent verse and character. The fun is still there and there was plenty of ready laughter last evening.

Mr. Hopper appeared as the able seaman Dick Deadeye, and in the part showed himself a master of the art of making. He appeared to advantage in the duet about the mainmast and the tars with Capt. Porter, a part ably handled by John Willard.

Miss Kate Condon sang Buttercup in a decidedly pleasing manner. Pinafore, as shown last evening, remains what it ever has been, a good thing of its kind, and was sung with much feeling and skill by Mr. Hopper, Arthur Aldridge, Herbert Waterous, Idelle Patterson and their associates.

Trial By Jury is a satire on the fatuity of trying to fight a woman in the courts. It was quite enjoyable, being short it was quite enjoyable, being full of rich, excellent fun. Mr. Hopper was seen as The Judge, Arthur Aldridge as The Defendant, John Willard as The Counsel, Arthur Cunningham as The Usher, Herbert Waterous as The Foreman of the Jury, Miss Gladys Caldwell as the Plaintiff, Miss Alice McComb as The First Bridesmaid. Their associate players were seen as Bridesmaids and Jurymen.

LETTER POSTAGE TO GERMANY IS RAISED

Five Cents is the Charge Now Made For Mail.

As there is no direct mail service between the United States and Germany, the two-cent letter rate has been suspended, pending the resumption of the direct service, according to an order received by Postmaster Cunningham from Washington.

The two-cent rate applies only to such letters as are dispatched to Germany from this country or from Germany to the United States by sea direct. Letters which require transit through intervening countries are subject to the postal rates and conditions of those countries.

Until the direct service between the two countries is resumed the letters are subject to postal rates of five cents for the first ounce or a fraction thereof and three cents for each additional ounce or fraction of an ounce.

DRINK MORE WATER IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat and take Salts for Backache or Bladder trouble.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urino-genic waste or you'll be a real sick person. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Drugists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only coming.

RUB RHEUMATIC, ACHING JOINTS AND STOP PAIN

INSTANT RELIEF WITH A SMALL TRIAL BOTTLE OF OLD "ST. JACOB'S OIL."

Rheumatism is "pain" only. Not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Stop drugging! Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil" right into your sore, stiff, aching joints, and relief comes instantly. "St. Jacob's Oil" is a harmless rheumatism liniment which never disappears and can not burn the skin.

Limber up! Quit complaining! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacob's Oil" at any drug store, and in just a moment you'll be free from rheumatic pain, soreness and stiffness. Don't suffer! Relief awaits you. "St. Jacob's Oil" is just as good for sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, backache, sprains.

A good time was enjoyed by every one that attended the party Friday evening in Haggard's Hall, given by George Knipschildt and Paul Ratlow.

The Boy Who Dreams.

It is a good thing for the farmer boy to have an imagination, says the Prairie Farmer. It is a good thing for him to "dream dreams and see visions." It takes a dreamer to see the transformation that intelligent effort will bring to pass on the old place. It takes a dreamer to see how much more desirable that place will be in ten years than a job in a dry goods store.—Emporia Gazette.

MAMMA, DADDY AND THE CHILDREN CAN ALL TAKE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS"

HARMLESS "FRUIT LAXATIVE" CLEANSSES STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS.

A delicious cure for constipation, biliousness, sick headache, sour stomach, indigestion, coated tongue, sallowness—take "California Syrup of Figs." For the cause of all this distress lies in a torpid liver and sluggish bowels.

A tablespoonful tonight means all constipation, poison, waste matter, fermenting food and sour bile gently moved out of your system by morning without griping. Please don't think of "California Syrup of Figs" as a physic. Don't think you are drugging yourself or your children, because this delicious fruit laxative can not cause injury. Even a delicate child can take it as safely as a robust man. It is the most harmless, effective stomach, liver and bowel regulator and tonic ever devised.

Your only difficulty may be in getting the genuine; so ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs." Say to your druggist, "I want only that made by the 'California Fig Syrup Company.'" This city has many counterfeit "fig syrups," so watch out.

Why "No Coffee" For Children?

Many parents who drink coffee would not allow their children to touch it.

The 2½ grains of the drug, caffeine, in the average cup of coffee, is far more injurious to the susceptible nature of a child than to an adult, but, just as constant dripping will wear away stone, so will the repeated doses of caffeine undermine the strongest constitution.

Parents who would protect their own health as they do that of their children, will see the reason for quitting coffee and using

POSTUM

This pure food-drink contains nothing that is harmful or injurious, but is, on the contrary, healthful and invigorating. Postum is easy to make; has a delightful snappy flavour, very much like Old Gov't Javas; and is good for both children and adults.

Postum is sold in two forms—REGULAR POSTUM, which requires boiling, 15c and 25c packages; INSTANT POSTUM, which is soluble in hot water—made instantly in the cup, 30c and 50c tins.

Both kinds are equally delicious, and the cost per cup about the same.

Roumania Occupies a Peculiar Position With Reference to European War Situation

Map shows position of Roumania and territory she covets.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—Roumania, one of the outlying European countries of uncertain military intent these days, whose entrance into the great war is being freely predicted and who would bring into the struggle an army and resources of much greater significance than is commonly understood, is portrayed in a study for the National Geographic Society, prepared by Frederick Moore, in which considerable historic and economic light is thrown upon the motives behind this little kingdom's foreign policies.

Roumania, the writer shows, has no strong ties of international friendship. It lies directly across the path of the Russian progress southward, and, moreover, has consistently refused to commit itself to the protection of "Russian influence." It remained aloof from the Balkan alliance which pushed the Turk further back toward his Asiatic source. While, Mr. Moore explains, since the days of the Russo-Turkish war of 1877, when Roumanians crossed the Danube and aided the Russians in driving the Turks out of the province of Bulgaria, there has been peace, there has been much good feeling between the Roumanians and the Bulgarians. And recently even this thin peace was broken.

These countries have a long stretch of neutral border. They are both filled with a spirit of intense nationalism—a spirit general in the Balkans, newly awakened and newly become ambitious. It so follows that each land is as suspicious as it is jealous of the other. Moreover, Mr. Moore points out, a general fever for territorial expansion has burned wildly through the Balkan countries, and Roumania has contracted this fever along with her neighbors.

So it happens that Roumania is isolated with its ambitions, the more so because of its position. As its people do not feel themselves to be of common blood with their fellow peoples on the peninsula, but love to think of themselves as inheritors of pure Latin blood and of the glorious traditions of old Rome. The Roumanians are the children of the Romans who conquered the ancient Dacians, intermarried with them, and gave them the Latin language, which has continued, with few variations, to this day. So the Roumanians have no place in the light bonds of Pan-Slavism which maintain a degree of cousinly sympathy between Russia and the Balkan Slavs.

Bulgaria has memories of its province, Silistria, newly lost to Roumania. Its country alive and watchful. When Bulgaria fell out with her former allies, Serbia and Greece, at the conclusion of the war with the Ottoman, Roumania added her armies to the scales, and at little cost in blood and money, was able to demand the rich province for her own. The friendship between Roumania and Greece has never been warm, while, to make its diplomatic position still less one of question, its king, a member of a princely German family, Hohenzollern-Sigmaringen.

Another common night terror is the dream of a sudden call to arms and the inability to find some indispensable article of attire or armament, a conception productive of intense mental agony.

naturally occupy a large share of the soldier's attention in dreams, and the exasperation of nightmare is the supposed discovery in one's bed of a shell ready and willing to burst, as associated with the usual nightmare movement to get rid of it. Several men have had dreams centering around the inability to withdraw a bayonet from an enemy's body when urgently required for self-defense.

Yet the nightmare-ridden men are as brave as the rest in face of actual danger.

Bill Would Discriminate Against Unfair Agreements on Part of Insurance Companies.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Madison, Wis., Feb. 10.—A bill to regulate fire insurance rates, to be just, reasonable and non-discriminatory, prohibiting secret or unfair company agreements, and providing for the making of a public hearing of the insurance rates, has been introduced by Senator J. Henry Bennett in the Wisconsin assembly. The bill has been prepared in accordance with the recommendations of the National Convention of Insurance Commissioners made at New York last December. These recommendations were the result of an investigation of nearly a year and a half by a special committee of insurance commissioners, of which Commissioner of Insurance Herman L. Ekern was chairman. This bill has been introduced in a number of states, including Michigan, Missouri, North Dakota and Oregon.

The bill requires that fire insurance rates shall be just and reasonable. It gives the commissioner of insurance power to investigate and review any rates and order substituted a corporate rate. An appeal to the courts is provided for.

Discrimination in rates is prohibited, but any company may vary from a bureau rate on filing a schedule fifteen days in advance. All agreements between companies as to rates are prohibited unless in writing and filed with the bureau, and any violation of this provision must be discontinued. The commissioner of insurance is authorized to make a public hearing of the insurance rates.

Every property owner is to be entitled to a copy of the schedule on which his rate is made. Statistics are to be given as to the experience of the bureau, comparing losses and premiums on different classes of risks in order that the correctness of the schedules and of the charges and rates may be tested. The rates are made subject to an examination and regular reports by the commissioner of insurance.

The authority of the local boards of agents to make fire insurance is to be repealed. Under this bill the commissioner of insurance will have power to deal with the problem of discrimination or overcharge. The figures of the commissioner of insurance show that during ten years Wisconsin property owners have been overcharged 20 percent as compared with the rest of the United States, and that in 1913 the overcharge rose to 30 percent. On this basis alone, the overcharge for ten years is over $15,000,000.

In addition, it is urged that regulation of rates is necessary to encourage the prevention of fire by assuring property owners corresponding reductions in rates.

GERMANS TUNNEL HILLS TO RICH MINING LAND

Paris, Feb. 10.—The Frankfurter Zeitung reports that the Germans have pierced the hills from Joux in French territory, to Moyeuville-Grand in Lorraine, to facilitate communications. The tunnel has been completed in two months' work and cost $5,000,000. This tunnel was long ago proposed by miners and manufacturers in the mining district of the valley of Briey, but opposed by the government for strategic reasons. The execution of the work by the Germans is taken as indicating a determination on their part to hold this rich mining country at all hazards.

FOUR THOUSAND ENGLISH OFFICERS KILLED AT FRONT

London, Feb. 10.—During the past two weeks the names of 199 officers have been added to the official British casualty list, bringing the grand total of British officers killed, wounded and missing up to 4,453.

The king's own Royal Rifles and the main contingent appear to have been in severe actions during the fortnight, having a large number of their officers wounded.

Submarines Are Best Insurance Against Attack Say Naval Men

Washington, Feb. 10.—"The American people haven't any more of an idea of what a great navy they have than a lot of monkeys. I don't believe they know that the highest naval officer of the United States who appeared before the house naval affairs committee, declared that we have the greatest navy in the world, excepting that of England, and that we do not need the addition of fifty million dollars worth of ships this year to make it efficient. Instead of listening to these authorities the people read this book, the naval agitators spread around."

That is what the leader of the "Little Navy" plan in the house declared today. "People mistake the idea of 'little navy,' said Judge Witherspoon of Mississippi, the leader. We don't believe in a little navy; we believe in a navy the United States now has is adequate for defense purposes and we are opposed to building new ships except the case just to give the big corporations more chance to graft."

Discussing the naval appropriation bill now before the house, with its building program of two battleships, seventeen submarines and other war vessels, Representative Witherspoon declared that the whole program "is a piece of inexcusable extravagance."

"According to the testimony of the best naval authorities in the United States," said Witherspoon, "submarines are the best insurance against hostile attacks. But they also declare that the United States already has an abundance of submarines and all that are necessary for our coast. We have 59 at the present time. Now most people do not know what submarines are for. I didn't until Captain Sterling, commander of the submarine Florida, told me. It is not the idea of naval strategists to have submarines at every port. Captain Sterling said all the United States needs is one for each battleship. Submarines, he said, may be used in a fleet to go out and attack approaching vessels before the dreadnaughts come up. It would be useless to have a few submarines scattered in all our harbors because in time of war the harbors can be mined against all hostile attacks."

Witherspoon does not believe the European war has demonstrated any necessity for an increase in our navy. He declared that the highest naval officers who appeared before the House naval affairs committee did not advocate an increase in our forces. He said the new ships are being "shoved" upon the navy department, made such a howl through the newspapers about an inadequate navy that the House committee has mistaken the public sentiment," said Witherspoon. "What the House committee voted is entirely unnecessary."

Witherspoon said that he and his "little navy" followers would all vote against the naval program but he added that anything the committee reported would be carried in the House. If the European war lasts a year or more, this southern congressman pointed out, the U. S. may have the largest navy in the world. He said England has lost 37 war vessels, so far, Germany 47 while the other belligerents have lost ships too. "If the United States builds more and more ships every year while the European powers lose more and more every year our navy will soon be the largest in the world. Then the world can point its finger of scorn at the United States for being militaristic."

Witherspoon said he firmly believed that the only reason two battleships a year are built in the United States is that the work upon them is sufficient to keep the largest ship building corporations and the armament plants at work all the year round.

DEMAND FOR PASSPORTS CAUSES CONSTRUCTION OF A NEW BUILDING

Correspondence of The A. P.
London, Feb. 10.—Because of the great pressure upon the passport department of the Foreign Office, Lord Grey is having an emergency building erected in the court about which the various branches of the foreign service are grouped. The temporary shelter for the passport department is a large wooden structure hastily thrown together.

A general order has been published that all British passports issued before August 5, 1914, to British subjects now in the British Isles will become invalid on February 1. Passports issued before the war and held by Britishers now in France, Spain, Portugal, Italy, Switzerland, and Holland, Denmark, Norway, and Sweden will become invalid on March 1.

The clamor for new credentials has been unprecedented in the history of the Foreign Office.

FIGHT OF AEROPLANES RELATED BY OFFICER

Two Machines Battle, Like Knights of the Tourney Thousands of Feet Above French Trenches.

(Correspondence of The A. P.)
Dunkirk, France, Feb. 9.—A fight between two French aeroplanes and one of the new "armored" German monoplanes, a type which has only recently begun to appear on the northern front, is described in a letter from a French officer. He writes:

"For half an hour the black Taube had been describing infernal circles over our lines, while our men crouched in their trenches, covering with their bodies bayonets, muskets and everything else whose glittering surface might betray their position. I alone stood up, observing the enemy through my field glasses.

"Suddenly a French airplane emerged from a cloud above the Taube. The dry bark of a mitrailleuse announced that the Frenchman was attacking. The Taube turned and without replying, but only to return to the attacking machine guns spoke. Carried apart by the speed of their charge, like knights in a tourney, they swept along in great circles to renew the combat.

"The Frenchman hovered and waited; the adversary returned quickly with clever manoeuvres, flying above, then below the Frenchman, diving when he could while the Frenchman seemed to remain almost stationary, replied with energy.

"In the trenches our red-pantaloined soldiers and the spike-helmeted German auxiliaries sniping operations and followed that fierce struggle with equal emotion. An involuntary 'Ah!' broke from a thousand throats as a biplane emerged from the same cloud that had hidden the French monoplane, and the Taube turned to flee.

"But the French monoplane pursued, and it had the advantage here, for the German biplane, being so armored, was too heavy for high speed. The French machine quickly passed the fugitive, forced it to turn and came again toward the French line, where the biplane was awaiting it. It passed near the latter and again there was the bark of guns, but apparently without decisive result.

"Again the French monoplane returned to the charge. Flying high over its adversary, it suddenly headed long upon it, seemed to touch it and then—mounted again gracefully in the air.

"At a dizzy speed the Taube, mortally wounded, fell almost vertically into the German lines."

ROADS OF FRANCE HAVE BEEN RUINED BY WEATHER AND PASSING OF TROOPS

(Correspondence of The A. P.)
Paris, Feb. 10.—Rain and war together have completed the destruction of the admirable high roads in the north, of which France was once so proud. The continual passage of heavy artillery and of thundering motor trucks have worn deep ruts in them, now filled with mud that sticks like glue. Within range of the sniping battle line, the ruts are nothing compared to the multitude of funnel-shaped holes where the big German shells have ripped out the macadam and gouged sometimes three feet deep into the roadway. Speed is now certain suicide on those routes and the work of bringing up supplies has suffered accordingly. It requires three motor trucks now to do the work accomplished by two a month ago. The rapid increase in the French motor equipment has made it possible to surmount the difficulty at the expense of an enormous wear and tear.

NOISE IS IMPORTANT FACTOR IN THE WAR

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—"Among those European rivers which have been successful in the present war in checking the drive of the armies against one another, the Oise, along whose course the thunder of artillery and the crack of rifles has been continuous for months, is now entering the season when its modest river flow becomes a turbulent yellow rush from its source to its junction with the Seine. It will then be a still more difficult barrier to the northward advance of the French."

France," reads a statement given out today by the National Geographic Society.

The Oise, 187 miles long, rises in Belgium, five miles southeast of Chimay in the Province of Namur, flows south to southwest in an irregular course, traversing nine miles of Belgian land and the French department of Aisne, Oise and Seine-et-Marne, and unites with the Seine 23 miles below Paris. The river Aisne is the principal tributary. The Oise is 160 miles long, and is an important commercial link in the wonderful web of natural and artificial waterways of northern France.

All along its upper course, its valley is narrow and well-wooded, while its shores are rocky, bordered often by cliffs and fringed with drooping willows. It runs through chalk hills, thence through dense forest land, and finally, through an open grazing country and through larger cities. There are miles of high reeds in its shore waters, and beginning with late winter's thaw, the Oise submerges them in its headlong flight.

Boating on its headwaters, one is continually turning unexpected corners and coming upon the mills which the river serves, or upon the tiny bobbing floats, where a town's washerwomen are busy from gray morning until late at night cleaning clothes in the stream's flow. After La Fere, in the stream's flow, the Oise flows its course not far below, the Oise flows through a dairy land which has given to the world some of its best varieties of cheese.

LIFE BECOMES ALMOST NORMAL IN BRUSSELS SINCE GERMANS DEPART

Correspondence of The A. P.
Amsterdam, Feb. 10.—Advice from Brussels say life there has become almost normal, and Sundays find the usual crowds in the cafes and on the boulevards. Only a few German troops remain in the city. German postage stamps are now sold in the post offices, and the names of the railroad stations and public buildings have been Germanized. Some classes of municipal officials have been compelled to sign contracts which make them German subjects for a period of six months.

Most of the shops are open, but money is scarce. The troops pay cash for everything they buy. German commercial travellers are busy offering their wares to the shopkeepers.

DEMAND THAT PEACE TERMS BE MADE PLAIN TO PEOPLE

(Correspondence of The A. P.)
Copenhagen, Feb. 10.—The demand that the terms of peace, when made, shall be in plain language which the common people of the various countries can understand, is voiced by Herr von Heydebrand, leader of the conservative party in Germany, in an address which he just reached Germans here. Von Heydebrand is quoted as saying:

It is a matter of wonder to many how it has become possible for Germany to be so alone in the world, and there is a feeling that German diplomatic ability could have been more pronounced. When the terms of peace come to be considered, we shall not allow them to become involved in a sort of complicated diplomatic art, but they should be put into language which the common people can understand and are agreed upon."
